

Long Island University

Digital Commons @ LIU

Selected Images from Campus Yearbooks

LIU Post Archives & Special Collections

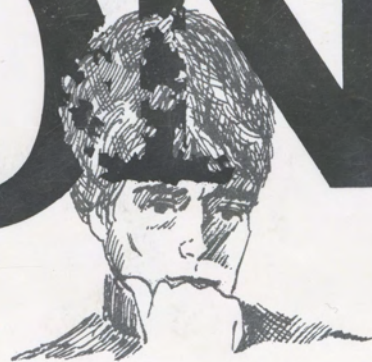

1969

Opticon 1969

C.W. Post College

Follow this and additional works at: https://digitalcommons.liu.edu/post_yearbooks

OPTI
CON

opticon '69
c. w. post college
greenvale, new york

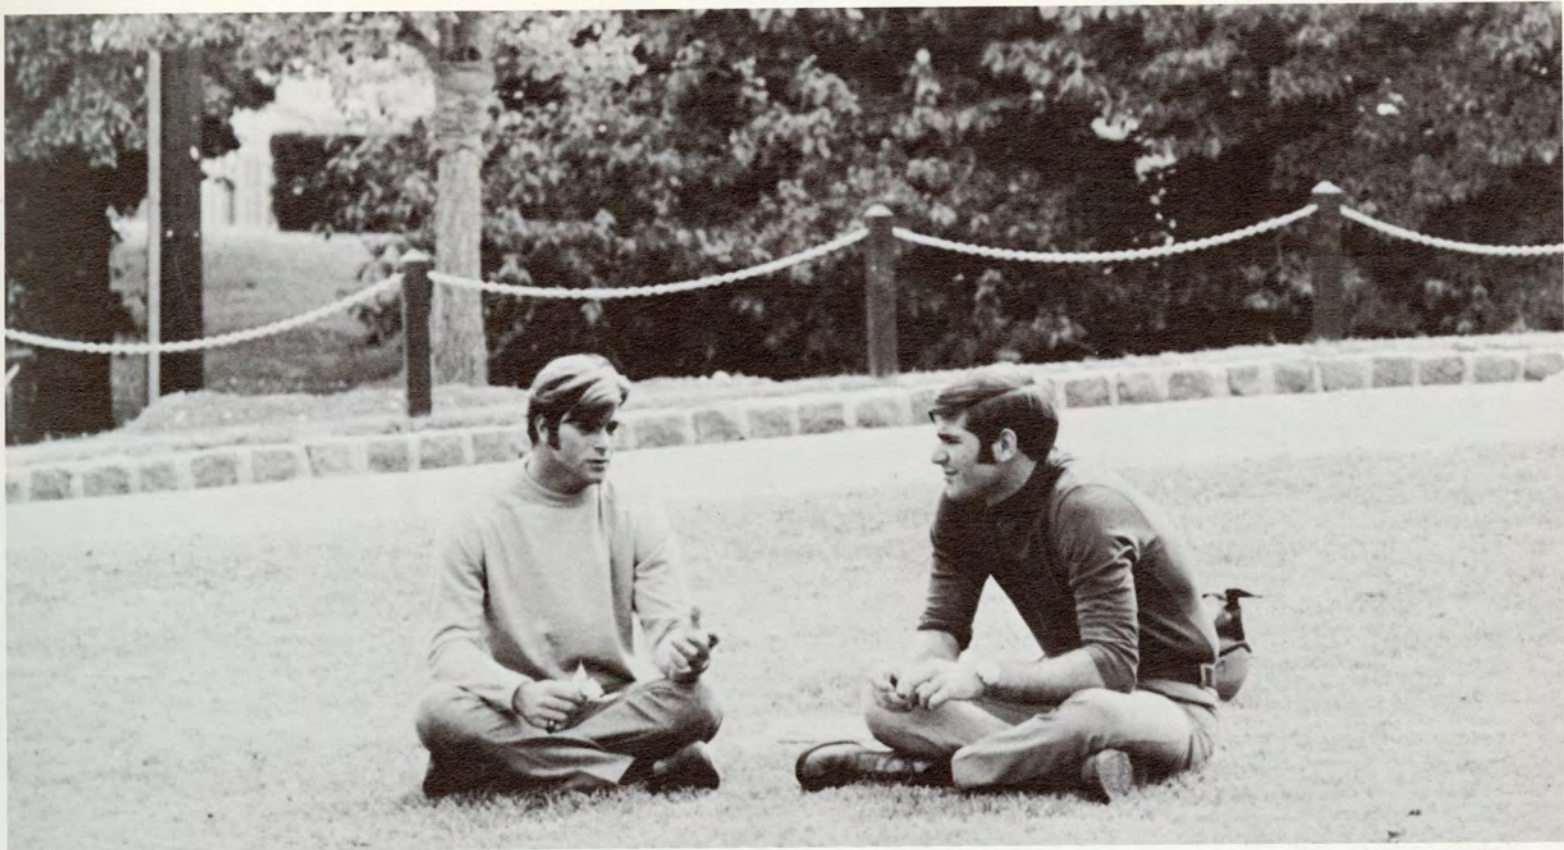

editor-in-chief
managing editor
business manager
photography editor

jon roderick
bonnie cersosimo
john gray
tom wilson

administration & faculty 50

activities 80

Post has no patent on (loneliness). The world
is all apart.
Together in disjunction
only:
united we fall.

C. W. Post College, where Grumman engineer and Great Neck hippie meet.

Oh, but they don't, but they don't. Engineers don't even meet other engineers, nor do the bearded ones exchange beads—and the two groups observe each other only for fashioning voodoo dolls, to mirthlessly barb between classes.

C. W. Post College, where rolling hills and sculptured shrubbery delight the eye.

Nowhere else can trees be removed in such numbers. The gardens are lovely, but add little sense of pastoral timelessness, having a tendency to vanish overnight.

C. W. Post College, where a strong Liberal Arts background prepares men and women to function thoughtfully in society.

The curriculum is far from liberal, in course requirements and teaching attitudes; the arts, by most, are simply neglected. Our preparation takes the form of hopeless resistance or resignation when we learn this lesson: to function in society prohibits thought.

Fraternal organizations and extra-curricular events provide interesting, worthwhile activities for all.

There is a lot to do here, and much of it gives the illusion of being worthwhile if you leave no time or energy for vision. Pretty sorority girls usher, build floats, and the brothers have been known to sponsor lectures. Both work for charity causes, and block despair more gracefully than independents by fixing concentration on their own group structure. They welcome initiates, extending warm hands and cold bottles of beer. Those who beware of Greeks bearing gifts face a more conscious loneliness.

Recent developments have broadened the limits of academic and campus mobility.

New course offerings, new majors, and requirement reforms represent real growth. The P/F system, though, approaches too closely the question we are trying to avoid—what it is that we are passing or failing. On the other hand, a major administrative shake-up, and the as yet unveiled reorganization of the University, allow us to persist in the belief that a change for the better can come about.

“And would it have been worth it, after all?”

Had we chosen a different institution, or not to go to school at all, might we have avoided this supercilious ennui and got a better education in the bargain? Probably. We would now be situated comfortably in some job, or planning graduate

Upon the resignation of Dr. Ralph G. Hoxie from the University in late September, Dr. George Stoddard, then the Vice Chancellor for Academic Affairs, became Acting Chancellor. Thus Dr. Stoddard assumed the guiding role in a university embroiled in reorganizational controversy. When he was later named Chancellor of the University, Dr. Stoddard assumed the title he had previously held from 1960 to 1964 at New York University.

Dr. Stoddard is also a former president of the University of Illinois and of the University of the State of New York. He is a member of the Board of Lincoln Center for the Performing Arts and the American Shakespeare Festival in Stratford, Connecticut. When he was informed of Dr. Hoxie's resignation, Dr. Stoddard was working on a higher-education expansion project in East Africa.

In June, 1967, Dr. Stoddard joined Long Island University as Consultant to the Chancellor. In September he was named Acting Vice Chancellor for Academic Affairs. One of Dr. Stoddard's first acts as Chancellor was his decision to add student and faculty representatives for the first time to the Chancellor's Cabinet.

HOMECOMING COMMITTEE

Seated: J. Gray, C. Davidson, B. Suval; Standing: J. Benson, L. Salk, chairman; M. Baker;
Missing: G. Barbara, T. Forte.

Richard Schwartz accepts a trophy from Sherri Anderson, Homecoming Queen, for Phi Sigma Delta's award-winning float, while Dr. Stoddard and Dean Spiegel look on.

ORIENTATION

GREENBAND

Row 1: F. Godes, L. Ogust, D. Owen, M. Sprei, J. Greigel, S. Wilkerson, M. Finkelman, L. Brown, S. Martin, R. Schaffler, L. Knoblock, P. Yeckes, W. Kleppinger, D. DeSanto, D. Manzolino, B. Shields, L. Nitzky, H. Kisin, J. Rhodes, J. Abrahams, M. Altshu-

ler, E. Pickman, R. Tenem, S. Fine, D. Meyer; Row 2: S. Rollman, C. McMahon, B. Murphy, M. Connors, B. Dix, G. Pollack, C. Reid, J. Farrell, D. Flach, B. Suval, S. Klebanow, J. Benson, S. Cherman, B. Noss, B. Plonsky, E. Gelenter, F. Moron.

PLAYMAKERS

Row 1: W. Eckstein, G. Hodges, S. Fineman, P. Saitz, F. Goldsmith, R. Mazzeo, C. Block, M. Ensley; Row 2: S. Bujno, C. Schwartzberg, N. Torresen, P. Marcovicci, H. Machiz, D. Kriensky, A. Stevenson; Row 3: M. Schlackman, F. Blank-fein, W. Sissleman, E. Rubinstein, B. Brown, I. Landres, D. Schuman, V. Leder, R. Manieri; Row 4: N. Koch, H. Holmes, P. Eisenstadter.

PSI CHI

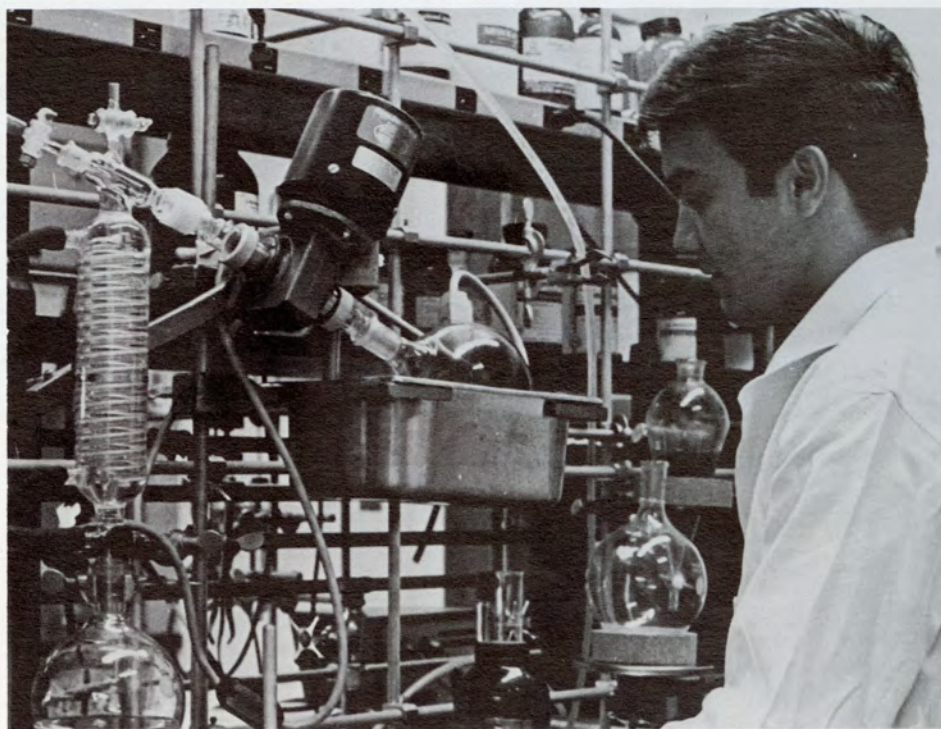

Row 1: S. Scheck, J. Davis, Dr. Tatz, Z. Nitzberg; Row 2: H. Champion, R. Mitchell, E. Rich, L. Carter; Row 3: D. Kollner, E. Lake, J. Elias, H. Kisin.

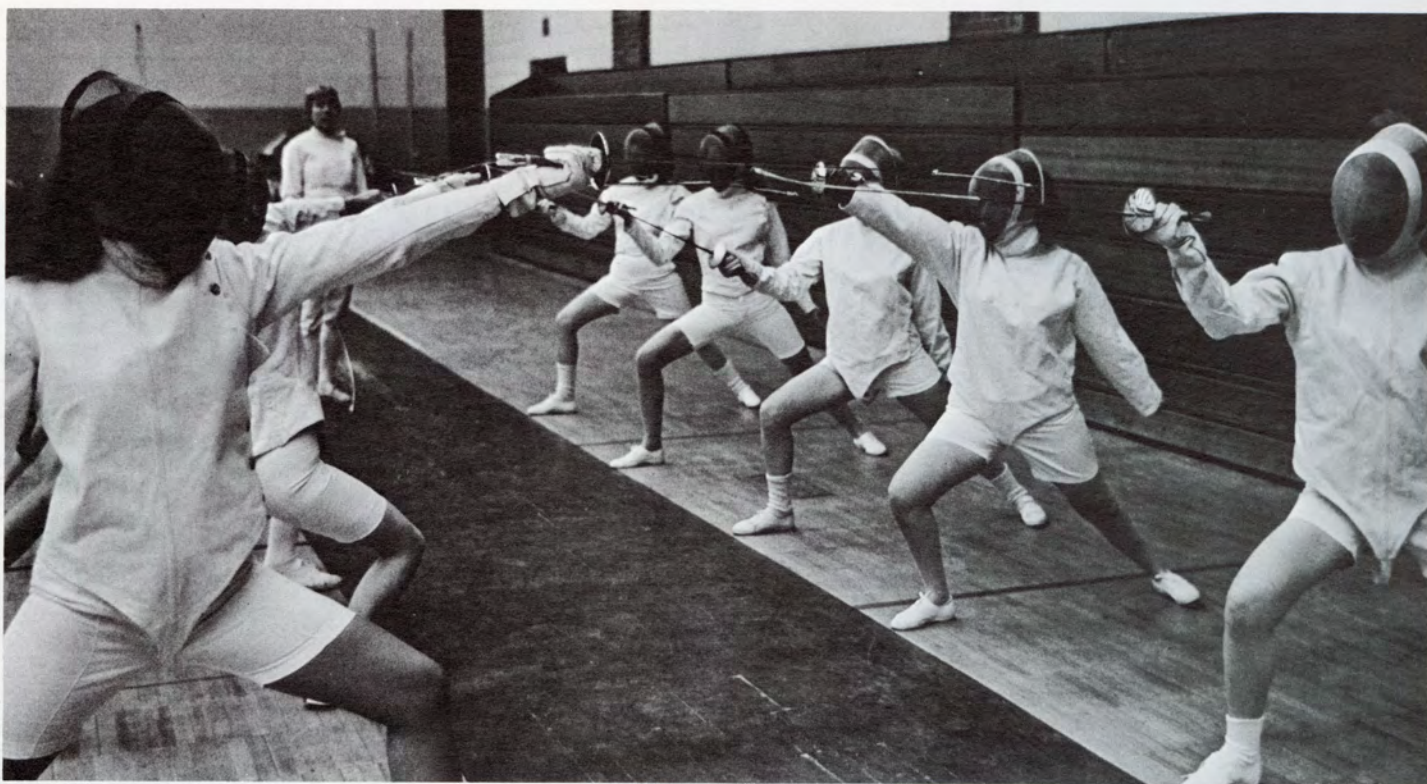

CHEMICAL SOCIETY

Row 1: G. Grossman, D. Bruder, D. Farb, W. Wineler, W. Schmidt; Row 2: J. Nemetz, K. Jardine, D. Worksman, J. Zaretsky, R. Hoptener, S. Goldner, K. Kajkowski.

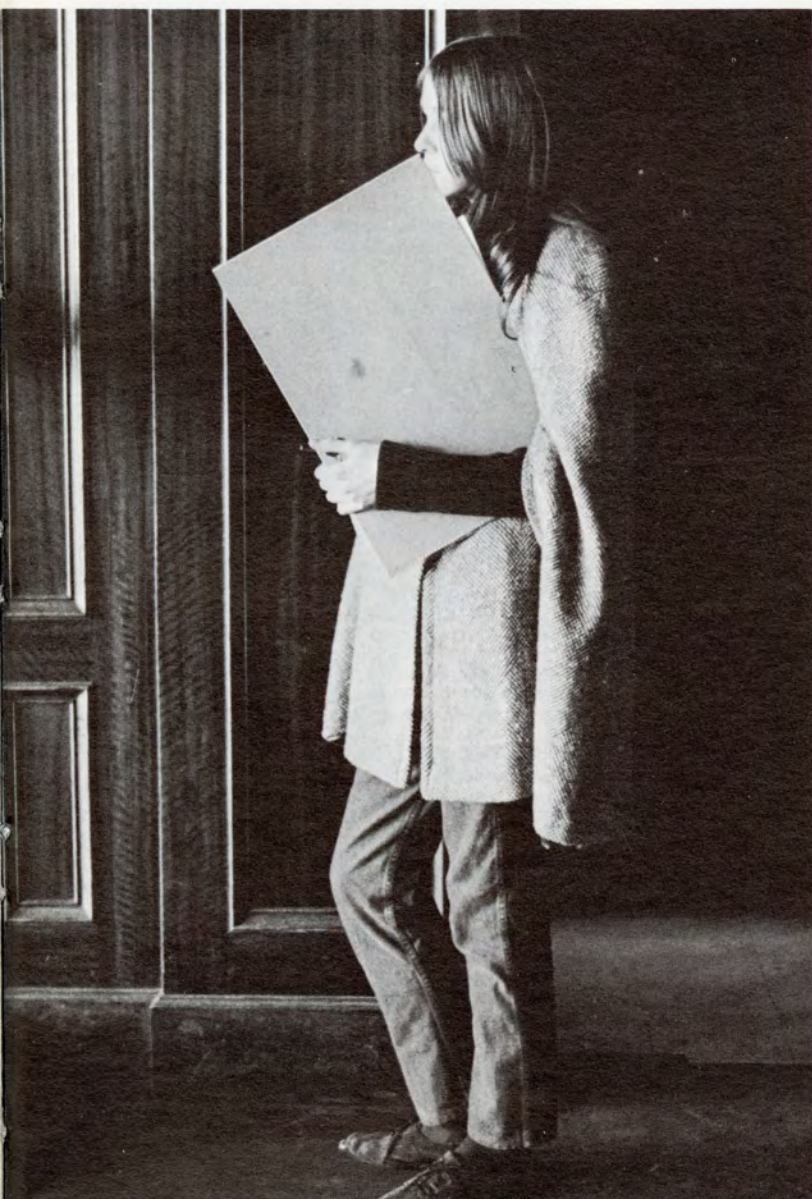

WOMEN'S ATHLETIC ASSOCIATION

Row 1: Ellen Wagner, B.S. Elem. Ed.; Ilene Wainick, B.S. Chemistry; Richard Ward, B.A. Philosophy; Peter Weidhorn, B.S. Accounting; Warren Weisberg, B.A. Psychology; Fern Weiss, B.S. Elem. Ed.; Ira Weiss, B.A. History; Joan Weiss, B.A. English. Row 2: Stephen Weiss, B.A. Sociology; Barry Weissler, B.A. Economics; Roberta Welsch, B.S. Elem. Ed.; Stephen Werner, B.A. English; Peter Wiedman, B.A. Marketing; Judith Wilcox, B.A. English Ed.; Roger Wiley, B.A. Sociology; Gary Winnick, B.A. Marketing. Row 3: Judy Winter, B.S. Elem. Ed.; Laurie Wise, B.S. Elem. Ed.; Willard Workman, B.S. Accounting; David Workman, B.A. Chemistry. Row 4: Nicholas Yacabucci, B.S. Engineering; Elaine Yakos, B.A. Comp. Lang; Valerie Yasner, B.S. Elem. Ed.; Barry Yeeke, B.A. History. Row 5: Nancy Zalomek, B.A. Sociology; John Zanfino, B.S. Accounting; Richard Zeller, B.A. Physics; Susan Zieman, B.S. Elem. Ed.

Staff: Judee Berman, Bonnie Cersosimo, Lewis Cohen, Sal Conti, Jorge Corazao, Dennis Cordell, Carole Davidson, Linda Eastman, David Ehrenpreis, Jane Gatti, Dorianne Goetz, David Gray, John Gray, Maddie Green, Randy Griffith, Barney Haas, Steve Heyl, Scott Johnson, Helene Lefkowitz, Lynne London, Mike Mason, Colette Matlack, Francis McGrath, Vaughan Mosher, Toni Passalacqua, Jon Roderick, Steve Rollman, Tom Royer, Roger Scheiber, Richard Schulman, Peter Simpkins, Kenneth Smith, Monica Sprei, Yasuko Tamaoki, Mark Taylor, Dick Ward, Peggy Warren, Tom Whitehill, Tom Wilson, Peter Wolf. Advisor and Overseer: Dr. Richard Griffith.